AN OPLN LETTER

From James Lane Allen in Defence of the Reign of Law.

To whom it may concern: In the Leader of the 11th of Novem ber, which I have this moment read, there appeared an article criticising a certain statment in The Reign of Law. The statement had relation to the many diversions of the Baptist Church in Ketucky from the time of its set tiement. The writer of the article de clared my statement to be without foundation in feet.

I have not the least wish to meet this writer on his own plane of courtesy or christianity, logic or learning. And there is no clear obligation to teach him history, either in fiction or out of fiction, but possibly some readers may believe that since he voluntarily put himself foward to write on such a subject, he knew of what he was writing. This reply is therefore addressed to them; they are requested to observe what historic basis I had for speaking of "the kinds and parts of kinds" of Baptist in Keptucky.

In 1873 there were three Baptist sociations in the backwoods. Two were made up of what were called

Even then the entitled the the fellowship of the church was divided in Kentucky, as it has been divided in Virginia, as it had been divided in England, on the basis of Calvanistic and Arminian leas (Here then there were two kinds Baptist-or two parts of a kind.)

About ten years after these three associations were organized, several and formed an association of their hurches of the Seperate Baptist association, after baving vainly tried to bring about a reconciliation of the loctimes between their own associaion and the two others, split off rom their brethren and formed themelves into an independent body uner an independent name. Repeated ttempts were made to effect a union t all these bodies, but to uo purpose. Another part of a kind )

In the last year of that century, owever there began what was known that denomination of christians as e Great Revival, and among the e-ults of this was a reconciliation of Il the diff ring associations. A comnittee was appointed by the Regulars end the Sepeartes to draw up the erms of the union; these terms were ccepted by both parties and the sect ecame harmonious on a new basis of gan zuion, known as the United Biptist (Anothr kind)

Hardly had this union been effected, that is about three years later, when several churches, following the leaderthe time, and of his Secretary of State, who, himself was a follower of Dr Priestly, made an heretical departure ideas. Almost simultaneously in what was called the South District association of Baptists, there was a complete split into a minority and a m jority faction. st The majority faction had departed from the faith in the direction of Re storationist ideas and claimed that they were the Baptists in their association.
